Amy provides accounting, financial management, and consulting expertise to clients across multiple industries. She is skilled in all aspects of financial management including providing financial analysis and projections, issuing financial statements along with the related reconciliations and journal entries, budget preparation, cash flow management and filing, and reporting sales tax returns.

Over the course of her career, Amy has managed audit engagements, investigated potential client acquisitions through due diligence procedures, managed accounting teams for clients and large accounting firms, and planned and coordinated the budget process for a large law firm. Working with a Fortune 500 food products distributor, Amy planned and coordinated the company's annual budget process, developed various forecast models, prepared projections for board of directors, bank, and investor meetings, and coordinated the compilation of financial and other schedules for quarterly board of director's mailings.
