Corine provides accounting, analyses, consulting, process improvement, and growth strategy expertise to privately-owned and public companies within various industries. Corine helps clients manage accounting functions and provides insight into their financial operations. She began her career with a Big 4 Accounting firm with clients ranging from Fortune 100 corporations to small businesses and non-profits. She then worked for a large auto manufacturer as an Internal Auditor, testing controls and recommending process improvements.

After relocating to Virginia, Corine held roles within the telecom industry and with a venture capital firm, managing accounts payable, company budgets, and facilities management. Over the last decade she worked as Controller for a global wholesale distribution and a global manufacturing company. Within these roles, she helped create accounting processes and procedures, managed accounting month-end close, prepared financial management reports, and was a key resource for information sharing and process training for colleagues in other related departments.
