Beth specializes in Corporate Accounting for small to mid-sized privately held firms. With over 20 years of experience, she has a broad range of expertise in accounting and reporting, consolidating, budgeting and forecasting.

Beth's early career included working for a national bank, a mortgage company and a magazine holding company. She enjoyed several years in a unique internal audit group of the holding company of a power company. This job exposed her to traditional audit work along with special advisory projects and due diligence. All of these experiences led to her role as the Controller of an investment bank. Being responsible for all aspects of accounting for this small firm strengthened Beth's ability to work well with management, multitask and take on new challenges as they arise.
