With extensive expertise in financial operations, management reporting, cash flow forecasting, process improvement, and accounting controls, Rebecca helps organizations strengthen their finance functions and gain the financial clarity needed to support growth and informed decision-making. She brings a hands-on, practical approach to every engagement, with experience across financial reporting, month-end close, budgeting, audit support, and GAAP-compliant reporting in multi-entity environments. Known for stepping in during periods of transition, Rebecca is often engaged to stabilize accounting operations, resolve backlogged or non-compliant processes, and improve controls and reporting accuracy across teams and locations.

Rebecca began her career supporting large-scale financial operations within industrial, manufacturing, healthcare, and institutional environments, developing a strong foundation in reporting, audit, and process improvement. She later founded and operated her own businesses, serving as Owner/CFO and bringing corporate-level financial discipline to small business operations, including cash flow management, financing, compliance, and strategic decision-making. This combination of financial rigor and entrepreneurial experience gives her a practical understanding of both complex corporate structures, and the day-to-day operational realities faced by business owners, allowing her to meet clients exactly where they are.
